CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

The 2017 host of the GreenPort Congress, the Port of Amsterdam, believes the access ports provide can always be better: faster, smarter and cleaner. Faster by investing in their processes and services. Smarter by embracing innovation. Cleaner by being a big port with a small footprint. The Port also believes that nowadays issues are too complex to fix on their own and actively seeks dialogue and partnerships with their customers, civil society organisations, knowledge institutes and authorities to promote sustainable growth. This year's programme reflects these beliefs and contains many examples of working in partnership with stakeholders, combined with practical information on reducing emissions, footprint and sustainability recommendations. The programme is also designed to be involving and interactive, so we urge you to join in the conversation at every opportunity.
